Just a Little of This & That

Charitable
The most charitable thing that can be said of Robert S. Savage, young millionaire, who admits that it was a lingering kiss of Miss Clara Bow, film actress, that threw him off his equilibrium, is that it is far better to make a fool of yourself in your youth than to wait until old age and then start in.

Alarming
R. B. Bordwell invited me up to the annual picnic dinner of the American Legion and Woman's Auxiliary the other night, and for the time being diet was eliminated. Ham southern style, baked beans and escalloped potatoes and salad and a lot of other food fit for a queen or a king or a good healthy American citizen, had all been prepared for the supper by the ladies. Returning home, I tucked myself in bed and proceeded first to dream of tables laden with good things to eat, and along toward morning I was driving my car down Third Avenue on the sidewalk, with one headlight burning, and I met Traffic Officer Krommeyer coming north on the same sidewalk. And Officer Krommeyer said to me, says he: "Good morning, Bill!"

About that time I woke up.
What Would You Do?
A passenger liner was on its way and plowing into the teeth of a gale, when there came to the radio operator of the ship an SOS call.

A freighter had been caught in a reef of rocks and, according to the call, immediate help was needed to save the crew. This liner was the nearest ship to the freighter and so it proceeded to the proximity of the freighter. Arriving in the neighborhood of the freighter, the crew of the liner endeavored to launch two different boats to carry assistance to the crew. The fury of the sea was against them and the distance proved too great to throw a line over the doomed ship, and so they gave up after many fruitless trials.

A passenger who had seen considerable service on ships, said to the second officer: "It appears to me that we could run in closer to that freighter and thus save those poor devils over there."

"I have enough faith in the skipper of this liner to believe that he could do it," said the second officer, "but he says it wouldn't be right to take a chance with the eight hundred lives that are on this ship."

An hour passed on, and the liner still stood by, hoping the gale would calm; but it continued, while the freighter still pounded itself to pieces on the reef of rocks. Many passengers were critical of the skipper of that liner, for they, too, believed it was safe to run close enough to that reef of rocks to throw a line over the doomed freighter.

The second officer happened along and again this same passenger said to him: "It seems to me that the skipper is wrong and that instead of standing here like a coward he ought to make an effort to save those poor devils."

"He says he won't take a chance with eight hundred men, women and children on board, and don't you be too critical of him, either," said the second officer. "I want to assure you that the skipper's sweating blood over his decision, but he maintains he's right."

"I think he's wrong," said the passenger, "and the sooner we make the try for it the better. I don't like the idea of standing here doing nothing."

RED GRANGE PLAYS AT CLAREMONT IN "THE HALFBACK"

FILMING OF PLAY GOING ON IN COLLEGE CITY

Five Thousand to Attend Filming of Game Saturday. Mary McAllister Playing Opposite Football Star

With double appeal of a visit by "Red" Grange, nationally-known football star, and a location party of Sam Wood Productions, Hollywood, interest is widespread today in the operations in filming of "The Halfback," which began yesterday, scenes of which will be finished Saturday at Claremont.

Mary McAllister, diminutive blonde motion picture star, played opposite the newly-made screen luminary as scenes were photographed around Claremont Inn. The picture, which was written by Byron Morgan, is having its collegiate setting represented by the local campus, according to Jack McKeown, assistant director.

College Boys Hired
Fourteen motion picture workers were brought to Claremont from Hollywood Wednesday morning and returned in the evening. A dozen Pomona College boys were hired to lend atmosphere and a handy hand in the work, while a small group of co-eds earned a little money and had some fun in the same capacity.

"This is 'Red's' first picture," explained the assistant director this afternoon. "I shot a few scenes in the East with him, but we now have him out here where we can train him."

Teams to Meet
For the first time, according to his associates, a real football game with motion picture players will be filmed when the group takes over Alumni Field on Saturday. Scenes from the actual game are customarily filmed at an intercollegiate meet, but this time the clash will have a purely utilitarian purpose.

Pomona College and the University of California will each have a football team on Alumni Field Saturday. Grange will captain the Pomona College group, while the spectacular Wilson will be seen in action with the Blue and Gold wearers. The motion picture people explained that the teams, while made up of men from the two institutions, were not regular organizations of the colleges.

Pomona Not Connected
Coach E. W. Nixon made it clear that the only connection the college has with the enterprise is that it is leasing the athletic field to the visitors.

The company wants 5000 spectators on the bleachers in the early afternoon, when football scenes will be portrayed.

COUNTY BANKERS MEET AT PINE KNOT

Several local members of the San Bernardino County Bankers' Association plan to attend the next regular meeting of the organization, which will be held at Pine Knot Lodge, Big Bear Lake, Saturday evening, June 19.

Following a dinner, addresses and musical entertainment will compose the principal part of the program. F. C. Skinner, proprietor of Pine Knot Lodge, has arranged the entertainment program. Arch W. Anderson, vice-president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, and Charles Duncan, advertising manager of Foster & Kleiser, a San Francisco advertising firm, will be the principal speakers.

PROF. G. A. HAURY DIES IN NEWTON, KANSAS
E. H. Haury received a message this morning, informing him of the death of his brother, Professor G. A. Haury, that occurred in Newton, Kansas, this morning.

Prof. Haury, who was connected with Bethel College for many years, was well-known in Upland, having visited here a number of times. Last year he spent two weeks here visiting his brother, and during his stay made many friends, who will be sorry to hear of his demise.

E. H. Haury is leaving tonight on the Santa Fe "Missionary" for Newton, where he will attend the funeral.

OFFICERS OF NEW COUNTY AND CITY LIBRARYESTOPART COMPANY SOON

WM. ALLEN PRES., AND I. STEINER SECRETARY, ARE GUESTS

Francis Rogers of Hayman & Rogers, Grocers, Gives Craft Talk Before Lions Club, as Does Emory Sargent

William Allen, newly elected president of the Young Men's Service Club, just organized here, and Isaiah Steiner, secretary of the new club, were guests and speakers at the meeting of the Lions Club held yesterday at the Sycamores at noon.

The purpose of the new club, according to the officials, is to promote the good fellowship and general understanding between the younger generation of business men in the city. Both speakers expressed appreciation for the suggestions and assistance in organizing their club.

Craft Talks
Francis Rogers, of Hayman & Rogers, grocers, and Emory Sargent, manager of the Upland Lumber Company, formerly the Fox-Woodsum Co., gave their craft talks before the Lions yesterday.

Francis Rogers talked on buying, both future and daily, and told of the effects of displaying merchandise before the buying public. He also told of the efficient service that the people demanded. He compared in a most realistic manner the grocery business of today as compared with that of other days when high margins and slow turnover existed, while today low margin and quick turnover obtains.

J. E. Sargent of the Upland Lumber Company took for his subject the completed home rather than the materials in which his company deals. He described in a very interesting manner and told of the joy that he got out of his own business because he was assisting people to build homes and not buildings. Homes have been the sole aim not only of human beings, but of animals and birds throughout history, and the home is today recognized as the foundation stone of a successful nation.

Other guests were A. D. Mitchell, M. A. Dacus, members of the Ontario Lions Den.

IS INTERVIEWING LOCAL GROWERS

R. V. Cavers, who is associated with F. O. Walschlaeger of the California Citrus League in the cost production department, is spending some time in and around Upland gathering data for his files.

This work of ascertaining production cost of citrus fruit is undertaken each year by the League for the general information of the growers and the public. Two field men visit a representative percentage of growers in each district commercially during the spring and summer months. By the end of July they have gathered their material and the tabulated results are published in the Citigraph as soon as possible. This is usually around the end of the year.

Mr. Cavers states that he interviews about 100 growers in Upland and vicinity and information obtained covers about 800 acres of lemons and 900 acres of oranges. R. V. Cavers is a nephew of W. B. Cavers of West Eleventh St.

CHILDREN WELCOMED AT CROWELL HALL MON.

All the children who start in the Daily Vocational Bible School are to meet at Crowell Hall next Monday morning at 8 o'clock for registration and assignment. From this place they will be taken to the places where the different departments will hold forth. Miss Jessie Brown is making attractive plans for each of the kindergarten primary and junior groups. Parents and children please note that all the children are to assemble at Crowell Hall this coming Monday at 8 a.m.

LIBRARYESTOPART COMPANY SOON

As a culmination to many months of discussion, which at times has been inclined to grow heated, the parting of the ways of the city and county library is to take place.

Edward C. Harwood of the Upland Library Board, appeared before the city council last night, urging that Upland withdraw from the county library and as a result the council issued the following: "Notice is hereby given that the Board of Trustees of the City of Upland intend to and will on Thursday, the 1st day of July, 1926, at the hour of 7:30 o'clock p.m., of said day, at the council chamber in the city hall, take action to and will then and there withdraw from the San Bernardino County Free Public Library, and will at said time and place notify the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Bernardino of such withdrawal."

The discussion between the county board and the city board is whether Upland gets more for her money as a member of the county board or whether the same amount of money devoted to the Upland Library will accomplish the best result. The local board believes that the money now turned over to the county will get more for the Upland library if applied locally.

Want Street Dedicated
A. M. Wisely is planning on a subdivision of his property on East Tenth Street and appeared before the council regarding the acceptance of his plot. The council insists that the street be dedicated to the city, and Mr. Wisely is in doubt as to whether he has the right to dedicate the street as its ownership is in doubt. Status of the street is to be investigated.

New Reservoir
The city's new reservoir at 22nd Street and Mountain Avenue is to cost between $3500 and $4000, and will have a capacity of 200,000 gallons of water. The reservoir will be 96 feet in diameter and 14 feet deep.

Sprinkling System
Sprinkling systems was one of the main discussions at the council last night, in preparation for placing lawn along the parkways of the Pacific Electric on Euclid Avenue from Santa Fe main line north to Twelfth St.

It Cost $690.70
The improvement of Sixteenth Street cost the sum of $690.70, according to figures presented by Street Superintendent Manley.

To Eliminate Water
Irrigating water from adjoining groves is constantly flooding west Tenth Street and through the suggestion of Chief of Police Sawyer the street department will endeavor to get the problem solved and thus save the roadway from being undermined by the water.

Another improvement planned by the street department and ordered by the council is to place shoulders on the Twelfth Street road from Euclid Avenue west to San Antonio. The shoulders will be graded up to the roadway. The council ordered the lemon house of Stewart interests, which stands in the roadway on Twelfth Street near San Antonio Avenue, removed to make way for the improvement.

Ornamental Lights
In preparation for the ornamental light system from C Street north to Twelfth Street, the plan is to have the lights north of C Street in line with the system south of C already installed. Second Avenue above C is several feet narrower than Second south of C, and so the new lights will be set back that Second Avenue may be made wider north of C when desirable without interfering with the light system.

MRS. TUTTLE, DELEGATE FROM THE UPLAND CLUB, ATTENDS L. A. MEETING

Mrs. W. H. Tuttle, who was recently appointed as permanent chairman from the Upland Woman's Club to a seat on the censor board of the Pre-view Film Committee, attended a meeting of that committee that was held at the Uptown Theatre in Los Angeles on Wednesday.

This censor board or committee is composed of one member from every federated club in the Southern District, and it is the duty of this board to pass judgment on all films that are made in the Los Angeles district.

SAWYERCANDIDATE FOR CONSTABLE

In the year 1902 Upland was then known as North Ontario, and the reason for the existence of the town was the fact that packing houses had to have employees and the employees had to eat, sleep and wear clothes.

As the citrus fruit business grew the town developed a good deal like Topsy. It just grew here, there and everywhere, with cow-paths running from one place to another.

With the growth of the fruit industry it took more and more help to operate it, and where there are a lot of people living there are always a few who become unruly.

Conditions demanded that North Ontario have a constable. The salary was $30 a month. Finally J. F. Sawyer was persuaded to accept the work.

One day a wanderer came into town after having partaken too long of the cup that cheers. Constable Sawyer proceeded to gather in this wanderer, who had evidently been arrested many times. Fate hadn't been altogether kind to Constable Sawyer and this wanderer had always maintained that it took an officer completely equipped to put him in durance vile.

When the scrimmage was over the wanderer admitted that Constable Sawyer moved faster than any two-armed officer he had ever met.

That was away back there in 1902 and from that day to this Officer Sawyer has served as Constable and City Marshal of Upland Township and of Upland City.

Officer Sawyer is a candidate for re-election as Constable, his name to appear on the primary ballot in August, and there are a lot of folks who will agree with that other Upland man who said the other day regarding Chief Sawyer: "If there's anything wrong with Jedd Sawyer as an officer, it's this—he's too good to us."

ZENZ ADDS NEW FOUNTAIN SERVICE

A. Zenz has installed a new fountain in his confectionery store on Second Avenue that is the last word in fountains.

It is of the iceless type and is mechanically cooled, keeping the creams at a freezing temperature continually.

With the exception of the top of the counter, which is of zinc-wood with a mahogany finish, the whole fountain is of steel and tile construction.

Beautiful inlaid tiling in tones of brown and cream, with dashings of brilliant yellow and outlining of black glazed tiles, forms the base of the fountain, while seven comfortable little stools, constructed of burnished steel with leather upholstery, complete a very beautiful fountain. The whole is backed by a large plate glass mirror. Mr. Zenz has also added new wall cases and beautiful candy display cases to his store, and when the new show windows are in place he will have one of the finest up-to-the-minute confectionery stores in this section.

AMERICAN LEGION FOLKS AT PICNIC

One hundred and twenty-five sat down beneath the trees in Stoddard's Canyon Wednesday night to the annual picnic dinner of the Upland American Legion and Woman's Auxiliary.

Two long tables laden with only such tempting dishes as the women of the Legion Auxiliary know how to prepare gave a real welcome to the men and women attending, while the ladies of the Auxiliary waited on the diners in excellent style.

During the dinner Ord Toomey delighted his hearers with several vocal numbers, assisted by John Howe, Post Commander, who was there with his famous vest-pocket organ.

Sale of Hope Chest tickets, with E. C. Mehl assisting, proved interesting to the tune of $25 received.

Dancing, with R. B. Bordwell directing the orchestra, completed a most enjoyable evening. The

A. T. Hamilton Dropped Dead Today Result of Heart Attack

Former Manager O.K. Exchange was Guest of Daughter at Colfax, Cal. Left Here Wednesday Morning

A. T. Hamilton, citizen, orange grower, manager of the O. K. Exchange from 1904 to 1913, dropped dead at Colfax, California this morning.

Mr. Hamilton has been a resident of this section for more than forty years and was one of the foremost citizens of the community during its earlier years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton left on Wednesday for a short stay with Dr. and Mrs. Harry Kanner who reside at Colfax and at the time they left here Mr. Hamilton was in excellent health.

Mr. Hamilton died at 3 a. m. today following a heart attack.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton have three daughters, Miss Margaret, Miss Catharine and Mrs. Harry Kanner.

CHARTER NIGHT OF IZAAKWALTON CLUB FOR THIS COUNTY

Charter night was held by members of the newly organized Izaak Walton League Tuesday evening, at Ruddy Hall, when the League, which is to be known as "Old Baldy Chapter," was presented its charter by J. Cooley of Colton.

Mr. Cooley made the presentation in a few well-chosen words, and Bert Thrall, of the local chapter, accepted the charter in the name of the Upland organization, which is to be known as the "Old Baldy Chapter" of the Izaak Walton League.

There is a possibility that some names have been omitted but these are all that could be recalled at the time.

Those who were in business at that time, and are still carrying on, are Wm. C. Cline, Fletcher Manker and Robert Weiss. Gus Palis and W. C. Reynolds started business only a short time after 1900.

The oldest practicing physician is Dr. Wm. H. Craig, who located here in 1897.

YOUNG MEN'S CLUB IS ORGANIZED HERE

The newly organized Young Men's Service Club held its first meeting at the Davis Cafe banquet room Tuesday night with R. C. Norton, newly elected president of the Lions Club, as the speaker of the evening. Mr. Norton extended a hearty welcome to the new club and stated that the Lions Club would assist them in their work in any capacity that the officers desired assistance.

A bouquet of flowers from the Lions Club and from the Upland Business and Professional Woman's Club added a most attractive feature to the banquet table.

At the meeting of the new club next Tuesday, H. B. Harlow of the Upland Rotary Club and manager of the O. K. Exchange, will be the speaker.

Officers of the new club are: William Allen, President; Floyd Chambers, Vice-President; Isaiah Steiner, Secretary; Clark Roloff, Treasurer, and George Swindell, Playmate. The office of playmate is delegated to the betterment of the finances.

Following are the members of the new organization: George Swindell, of the O. K. Fruit Exchange; Isaiah T. Steiner, of the Commercial National Bank; Clark Roloff, of Swann's Music and Art Shop; Ed Thudum of Klindt's Grocery; Harvey Halderman, of Klindt's Grocery; Loren Long, of the Commercial National Bank; Floyd Chambers, of the First National Bank; Marion Maxwell, of Wilson's Toggery; Walter Hastings, of Ontario Power Company, and William H. Allen, of the J. J. Atwood Co.

In addition to the officers already mentioned, Old Baldy Chapter is composed of the following members: A. M. Fielding, P. H. Norton, J. W. Mehl, Thomas Donnelly, E. E. Marsh, W. L. Thomas, Donald Brady, Leigh Thompson, Dr. G. Ben Henke, A. J. Williams, M. James Kennedy, Thomas P. Logan, Walter A. Hall, A. Persons, W. C. Cline, Charles Puckett, Frank Bane, Herbert Baer, P. G. Peterson, E. P. Millard, L. G. Bumstead, C. W. Hall, J. A. Cox, John Voth, E. R. Bowman, Earl Dority, F. M. Scott, Walter Allen, Oscar Frantz, Harry Ledig.

committee in charge of the event was made up as follows: Mrs. Clair E. Kirk, chairman; Mrs. J. L. Grahame, Mrs. H. C. Naylor, Mrs. Maud Monroe, Mrs. Harry Plumm, Mrs. George Cassell, Mrs. Earl Marsh, Mrs. Verdt Hale.

CHAS. E. HARWOOD ACTS AS PALLBEARER FOR MRS. BRIDGES

Chas. E. Harwood was one of the honorary pallbearers Monday afternoon at the funeral services of Mrs. Mae Manford Bridge, widow of the late Dr. Norman Bridge and well-known philanthropist and patron of art and education. The services were held at her late home on West Adams Street in Los Angeles. Mr. Harwood was accompanied by his son, E. C. Harwood.

A large number of men distinguished in educational circles in both Los Angeles and Pasadena acted with Mr. Harwood in this capacity.

Fast Eating

(Covina Argus)

The president of a large restaurant association declares that people eat faster than they did 25 years ago. The counter lunch and the cafeteria have brought about fast service, bringing food and eater together without delay. This effects considerable time-saving for patrons and enables restaurants to take care of more patrons during a given time.

Along with quick service of food came quick consumption of it. The man eating at the counter lunch felt the speed in the atmosphere and took to gobbling his viands. So, too, did the woman.

So far as eating faster simply means more efficient service, it is a fine thing. Where it means also nervous haste in eating the food, it is bad for the speedy eaters—and indirectly for the families and their business.

The Hill Where Men Grow Young

(Pomona Progress)

Have you ever heard of Cardiff Hill? It rears above Hannibal, Mo., overlooking the Mississippi River, and on it they have just unveiled a bronze, life-size statue of two bad boys and presented it to the youth of the United States.

You probably know those boys. They never lived in the sense that they "felt dawn and saw sunset glow." They dwelt in the pages of books, but they live in our hearts. They are, to those of us who have spent happy hours laughing at them—and perhaps crying a little over them—the eternal symbols of American boyhood.

Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn! What finer memorial could be erected to Mark Twain than this statue of his imperishable characters in the very town where the famous humorist-author spent his own boyhood days?

On Cardiff Hill, meeting place of Tom Sawyer and his gang; where Tom fought and played and dreamed of finding buried treasure; where the moon one night looked down on a murderous knife-thrust by "Injun Joe" and two small boys hurried away from the graveyard as fast as frightened legs would carry them.

Mark Twain never forgot that hill. In "Tom Sawyer" he says, "The locust trees were in bloom and the fragrance of the blossom filled the air. Cardiff Hill, beyond the village and above it, was green with vegetation, and it lay just far enough away to seem a Delectable Land, dreamy, reposeful and inviting."

In his autobiography, written long years after "Tom Sawyer," he says: "I can remember the drowsy and inviting summer sounds that used to float in through the open window from the distant Boy Paradise, Cardiff Hill."

Mark Twain himself once ran through the village streets of Hannibal, played on the little islands in the Mississippi that to Tom and Huck were pirate lairs, and romped in barefoot abandon, amid "drowsy summer sounds," on Cardiff Hill. For Twain, we know now, was writing about himself when he wrote about Tom Sawyer. Tom's sweetheart, Becky Thatcher, was present at the unveiling of the statue. In real life she is Mrs. Laura Frazier.

Delectable Land: Boy Paradise. That, says Twain, was Cardiff Hill. But think of the delectable land and the boy paradise that he opened to millions when he wrote "Tom Sawyer" and "Huck Finn" and immortalized the finest thing on earth, the bad boy.

For Tom and Huck, you know, were bad. Not malicious. Just plumb mischievous and wholesomely real. Tom "sassed" his Aunt Polly and fought with the village boys. Tom played hookey and Huck wouldn't go to school at all. But in their hearts they were clean and fine, and we love them.

Can it be that you are one of those who have never read Tom and Huck? Never got lost with Tom and Becky in the cave? Never floated down the Mississippi with Huck on a raft. Never laughed at lovable old Aunt Polly as she tried to discipline the irrepressible Tom? Never listened to Huck's philosophy?

If you have never done these things you

Individuality

Is it not the chief disgrace in the world not to be a unit, not to be reckoned one character, not to yield that peculiar fruit which each man was created to bear; but to be reckoned in the gross, in the hundred, or the thousand, of the party, the section, to which we belong; and our opinion predicted geographically, as the North, or the South? Not so, brothers and friends—please God, ours shall not be so. We will walk on our own feet; we will work with our own hands; we will speak our own minds. . . . A nation of men will for the first time exist, because each believes himself inspired by the Divine Soul which also inspires all men.

—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Wild Life Vanishing

(Santa Ana Register)

Dr. William T. Hornaday, veteran director of the New York zoo, looking backward over half a century of intimate association with the wild life of America, sounds a note of warning.

"The grinding power of civilization," he says, "is sweeping our wild life out of existence at a frightful rate. Continuous harassments and injustices, both natural and otherwise, are combining to exterminate wild life. Several species are already on the brink of extermination."

Thus many beautiful and interesting beasts and birds are being lost forever to mankind, and thus the fine balance of nature is being disturbed. Aside from human interest in wild creatures, often the economic loss attending their extinction is irreparable.

Dr. Hornaday recommends the establishment of more game sanctuaries, and further limitation of the hunter's bag limit. That is good as far as it goes. But couldn't there be some limitation, too, on the number of hunters?

Most hunting is a farce nowadays, anyhow. The average hunter gets so little, for all his ammunition and effort, that it isn't worth the trouble, unless the by-product of healthful exercise is reckoned. And there would be just as much health in playing golf or baseball, or hunting in more civilized manner, with camera or field glasses.

Citrus Fruits Increase Exports

(Los Angeles Herald)

The importance of California in the citrus fruit export trade of the United States is clearly shown in a recent bulletin of the federal department of commerce. Over 95 per cent of all United States oranges are grown in California and Florida, with small quantities coming from Arizona, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. During 1925 California production increased from 18,100,000 boxes in 1924 to 20,400,000 boxes, while Florida's yield remained stationary at 14,100,000 boxes. The rapidly expanding orchard planting in this state will largely increase the crop in the near future. United States orange exports last year totaled 1,980,680 boxes (valued at $9,853,152).

Florida still has almost a monopoly in grapefruit, but its 1925 production was 2,300,000 boxes less than the year before, while California and Arizona are steadily increasing their acreage and yield. United States exports of grapefruit last year were 446,881 boxes, valued at $705,579.

Practically all the United States-grown lemons came from California, the 1925 yield being 6,000,000 boxes, an increase of 875,000 boxes over the previous year. The United States exported 161,649 boxes of lemons in 1925, but at the same time imported 1,384,857 boxes, nearly all from Italy. The United States markets take more than this state can supply at present, hence the importation noted.

It will readily be seen what an important position is held by California in regard to United States citrus fruit export trade, both present and future.

BERNARD MIXSELL IS RAPIDLY RECOVERING

The Upland News is in receipt of a special report from the Orthopedic Hospital-School for Crippled Children in Los Angeles, telling of the excellent progress made by 13-year-old Bernard Mixsell in his effort to overcome a paralyzing effect of infantile paralysis, which threatened to rob him of the use of his right arm and left leg.

Bernard is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Frank H. Mixsell of Camp Baldy and has won many warm friends at the big clinic for his grit and determination not to permit his difficulty to interfere with his normal activities any more than is possible. His left arm and right leg are in a brace and he undergoes daily exercises to build up the weakened musculature. Time and his indomitable will will so better his condition that by the time he reaches manhood Bernard will in all probability be brace free.

We are sure his many friends will rejoice to know of the progress he is making.

GREET EDITORS AT BIG REUNION PICNIC

Under the auspices of the Federation of States Societies a Reunion Picnic of former residents of other states will be held in Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles, on Saturday, July 3, to entertain editors from over 35 states who will be here for the 41st annual convention of the National Editorial Association. This reunion picnic has been arranged so that the visiting editors will not have to leave their convention sessions to visit with friends now residing in the Southland.

The park will be divided into geographical sections of the United States so that reunions will be made easier.

Southland folks are asked to take sufficient lunch for a visiting editor.

The Southern California Editorial Association, which is in charge of general arrangements for the convention, requests that local residents having friends in the editorial party do not take them away from the convention but arrange to meet them at the picnic. Sunday, July 4, is a "Free Day" for the visiting editors so that reunions may be continued if desired.

Members of all state societies are urged to turn out in large numbers to welcome the editors at Sycamore Grove, July 3. C. H. Parsons, secretary of the Federation of States Societies, is arranging the details.

EXPECT 5000 MASONS TO ATTEND BARBECUE

Five thousand members of the Masonic Order and their families have been extended an invitation to attend a monstrous Masonic barbecue at the newly organized Acacia Country Club Sunday next, starting at high noon.

The club is located near San Dimas, 29 miles from Los Angeles.

All Masons in good standing and all the members of their families are most cordially invited to join in the day's festivities, without any charge of any kind. There will be entertainment for old and young. A golf contest for two silver cups will be a feature.

Inter-connected Systems ..product of WESTERN Initiative

MUCH has been said and little done about the projected inter-connecting plans for the electric utilities of the eastern coast of the United States.

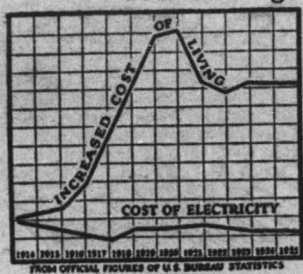

Little has been said but a great deal accomplished in the development of a real inter-connecting system for the Pacific Coast States.

Ten years ago, when the need arose, a practical inter-connecting system extending from Vancouver on the North to Mexico on the South, was put into operation.

Thru the intervening years this vast network of transmission and distribution lines has grown steadily until today it touches even the smallest towns and villages.

This is not a mere plan but a practical operating system ready for any emergency which it may be called upon to meet.

Your own light meter is actually electrically connected to every important power plant on the Pacific Coast.

The Richardsons had the Right Idea

They figured it out this way: Why should they ultimately bear the cost of a new wood floor when with judicious applications of Acme Quality Floor Paint they could keep the old floor beautiful and easier to clean and also preserve indefinitely its wearing qualities? So, when the floor began to wear, they quickly put a stop to it with Acme Quality. A 40-year reputation for dependability with a product for every type of floor finish.

Cucamonga - Alta Loma News

Compliments Club

Mrs. Charles B. Molsinger was hostess on Tuesday, entertaining members of the Alta Loma Bridge Club and a few friends at a bridge luncheon of attractive appointments at her home in Turner Ave. A blue and gold color theme was noted in the decorative motif throughout, garden flowers in pretty vases ornamenting each individual table, the luncheon tables being arranged in the shady patio for the dainty three-course luncheon. The afternoon hours were enjoyed at the auction tables, with Mrs. Gilbert Dziel making the honor score and winning first prize; second prize was awarded to Mrs. Clyde E. Gates. Enjoying Mrs. Molsinger's gracious hospitality on this occasion were Mrs. Dziel, Mrs. Gater of Pomona, Mrs. W. H. Horst of Upland, Mrs. Franklin Roth of Ontario, Mrs. W. H. Converse, Mrs. Chas. F. Thorpe, Mrs. W. C. Belden, Mrs. H. L. Salisbury, Mrs. B. H. Wilson, Mrs. J. H. Gregg, Miss Gertrude Reid, of Alta Loma; Mrs. W. J. Kincaid, Mrs. W. E. Morse, Mrs. Henry G. Klusman and Mrs. E. S. Bishop, Cucamonga.

Benefit Barn Dance Huge Success

The benefit barn dance staged by the Alta Loma Volunteer Fire Department Saturday evening proved a big success and netted the fire boys something like $200 or more to apply on the purchase of their new fire truck. Over 200 attended the affair, which was held in the big warehouse of the Alta Loma Supply Company in Amethyst St. Sid's Orchestra furnished excellent music for the dancing and the floor had been all dolled up in fine shape, with the building gaily decorated in the patriotic colors, red, white and blue. Ice cream, sandwiches and cold drinks were on sale and each admission ticket carried a chance on three prize drawings, the winner of the grand prize, a $5.00 gold piece, being Mrs. Fred Owings of Cucamonga, while two handsome boxes of candy were carried home by M. Neselov of Alta Loma and Miss G. Allen of Hollywood. The committee in charge of arrangements were Messrs. Gordon Billings, B. H. Wilson, Harry Wright and Leonard A. Smith. The fire boys wish to express their thanks and appreciation of the splendid patronage accorded them, which resulted so successfully in the raising of funds for the fire truck.

Triple Birthday Celebration

Complimenting Mrs. F. A. Lucas, Mrs. Chas. Frankish of Ontario and Mrs. Andrew Crist of Upland in a happily arranged surprise in honor of their three birthday anniversaries falling on or near the same date, members of the Ultra Neau Club, laden with lovely gifts for the honorees, not to mention a great birthday cake and other delectable dainties, met at the home of Mrs. Lucas at 312 El Morado Court Monday afternoon, taking her completely by surprise. Miss Mary Lucas, forewarned, had the home beautifully decorated with many handsome baskets of flowers, the lovely gladiolas predominating, among them being gift baskets from Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lucas and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Lucas. Social chat, radio concerts and other music made the afternoon very enjoyable. Later, a tempting collation was served. Members of the club present were Mrs. F. B. Chaffey, Mrs. W. B. Gillett, Mrs. Anne O'Brien, Mrs. Mary Lilley, Mrs. F. D. Falconer, Mrs. DeForest Walton and Miss Teresa McQuillan, the three honorees, Mrs. Frankish, Mrs. Crist and Mrs. Lucas, Miss Mary Lucas.

Ford Buys New Station

The new service station on the southwest corner of Archibald and State Highway has been purchased by Ray R. Ford from Pearson & Wallace, proprietors. Mr. Ford, well and popularly known throughout the West End, operates a service station on the northeast corner, which was the first station constructed in this locality.

Community Club Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the Alta Loma Community Club was held Thursday evening at the club rooms in the Peters Bldg., and was well attended. No regular speaker was listed on the program, which featured talks by members and music by local talent and a general get-together followed by a "Dutch Lunch."

Change Plans; Still With Us

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Morris, after having all plans arranged for a two months' eastern trip, starting last Sunday, decided that Cucamonga looked pretty good to them after all, and here they are, at least for the present, and instead of being on their way to Salt Lake, are now enjoying mountain life with the Girl Scouts, having escorted their daughter, Miss Margaret, who is at Camp Conifer with the rest of her troop for ten days, to the Los Angeles Play-ground. Tuesday they motored up again to the camp with their guest, Chief Standing Bear of Culver City, who was to assist in the entertainment of the scouts.

Mrs. M. J. Reid and Miss Gertrude Reid represented this community in a meeting of the County Historical and Landmark Society held last week near Redlands, on the site of the old mission Asistencia Capella de San Bernardino de sienna. They report a most enjoyable time.

Mrs. W. W. Hatch of Hermosa Avenue has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. F. Hazeltine in Los Angeles until Monday, when she left to spend a week or two recuperating at a rest sanitarium in South Pasadena. Mrs. Hatch has been in poor health following a severe attack of the influenza last winter and her many friends here are hoping that the treatments and complete rest she will receive there will prove entirely beneficial.

Mrs. Adella Samuels, principal of the Cucamonga Demonstration School, which closed for the summer last week, with her staff of teachers, Miss Kathryn F. Fraser, Mrs. Theresa Stafford, Miss Thelma St. John, Miss Josephine Lazzari, Mrs. Agnes Thorsen and Miss Bernice Gorman, will have charge of the Educational Demonstration Department at Pomona College during the six weeks of summer school.

Mrs. G. E. Keyes and daughter, Miss Helen, left Wednesday for Balboa Beach, where they will join Mrs. George Keyes, Jr., and little daughter, Earline, who are sojourning at the Hazeltine cottage on the Island. They expect to return home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Wilson have as their house-guests at their home in Amethyst St., Mr. Wilson's mother and brother, who are recent arrivals in the Southland from Nebraska, expecting to make their future home here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Logan, who have been visiting at the home of the latter's brother, J. H. Gregg and family of Hellman Ave., have returned to their home in San Francisco.

Mrs. H. G. Klusman has been home from Glendale for several days this week. Her daughter, Miss Vivian, graduates from the Glendale High School this term. Miss Muriel Demens, on summer vacation from Ramona Convent, is at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Thorpe. Miss Harriet Wikoff is expected home from the State Normal School at San Diego the latter part of this week, the school closing on the 18th.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kincaid are planning to leave early next week with a camping and fishing party en route for Bishop, in Inyo Co., and from there to Big Rock Creek and the High Sierras. They expect to be gone about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Thomas are planning to leave about the 20th for Lime Springs, Iowa, where they will visit Mr. Thomas' mother and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cooper and little daughter, Ada, motored to Whittier on Tuesday, where they spent the day in that vicinity. Mrs. E. S. Bishop attended the commencement exercises at the University of California, So. Br., Los Angeles, last week, where her niece, Miss Dorothy McCleary, graduated, taking the degree of B.E., in music and harmony.

Jones Case Appealed

Notice of the appeal of the case of Austin Jones, manager of the Ontario Pastime Club, who was recently found guilty of having violated the city anti-pool hall ordinance, was received Tuesday by Judge George R. Holbrook.

According to reports, the application for an appeal was received by the judge within a few minutes of the expiration of the fixed time limit. Grounds on which the appeal is based and a statement of the facts, with the copy of the motion for a new trial, was forwarded from Raymond Hodge of San Bernardino, who is attorney for Jones.

Attorney Hodge asks for a new trial on the following accounts: That the verdict of the jury was contrary to law; that the court refused to give the jury any instruction concerning accomplices, and that the plaintiff produced no testimony whatever other than that of accomplices.

Witnesses that were called by the city admitted that they were all members of the Pastime Club and Patrolman Sydenstricker, chief complaining witness, also stated that he held membership in the social organization. All who belong are alleged by Hodge to be accomplices and it is thought that the basis for a new trial will be sought on the grounds that if all members of the club are "accomplices in the crime" that, as only those were called to testify, Jones was unlawfully convicted.

Pilot Picks Plums

The combination of faulty mechanism and the law of gravitation caused an Arcadia aviator to make a forced landing on the nearest available ground Tuesday afternoon, which in this case happened to be a plum orchard on the Stensgaard ranch, in the Monte Vista district.

The plane had just taken off from the Ontario Airport, en route to Arcadia, where the pilot had stopped to make repairs to a defective gasoline line a few seconds prior to the crash. He had barely gotten into the air when forced to descend again, with no choice of a landing location, and the plane was brought down amongst the plums, with the result that two trees were uprooted and others damaged before it came to a halt. The damage to the airplane was confined to the wings and the aviator and his passenger are said to have escaped unhurt. They continued to their destination by motor car.

Firemen Enjoy Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the members of the Ontario Volunteer Fire Department was held Tuesday evening at Carder's Inn, instead of gathering in the banquet room at the fire station as has been the custom heretofore. Following dinner, the fire-fighters were taken to the new Granada Theater as guests of Manager R. V. Mallory, who had reserved loges for the entire party. About thirty members of the department enjoyed the evening and Paul Hofer, of the Ballou ranch, and Harry Cook, local dairyman, were guests of the volunteers. The committee in charge of arrangements for this meeting were G. A. McCarter, Welles T. Ross, Edgar Topf, and Frank Hayes.

Weldons Reach Denver

Word has been received by Miss Margaret Weldon of the safe arrival of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Weldon in Denver, where Mr. Weldon went as a delegate from the local club to the International Rotary Convention. Weldon wired that the great conclave was well attended and the visitors had been royally treated by the Denver club. Mr. Weldon is returning immediately, but Mrs. Weldon will continue on to Kansas City, where she will spend the summer visiting old friends and relatives.

Pigeons Prove Proficient

H. W. McCullough, manager of the Santa Ana Commercial Company, who recently gained widespread publicity through the use of carrier pigeons as messengers for his company's many trucks, came to Ontario Tuesday to obtain more birds from Capt. Ray R. Delhauser. McCullough sends pigeons out with each driver who, in case of breakdown in an inaccessible location, releases one of the birds with a message as to his trouble and whereabouts. The pigeon flies directly to the home plant, where lofts have been established, and assistance is soon on its way to the disabled truck. Stories of McCullough's system have appeared in national publications.

FONTANA CELEBRATES THIRTEENTH BIRTHDAY

Strong at the finish is PARABASE

IT'S the last few miles—just before you drain your crank-case and fill up again—that do the damage to your motor. Inferior oils break down and lose their lubricating qualities—and then you are in trouble.

Parabase was made to take you safely through those last few miles. Parabase will take you as far as you expect it to and then a little farther. It stands up under the stress and heat in your motor.

Tell your garage or service station man to fill your crank-case with Parabase. Notice the immediate difference in your motor's performance—but remember, "It's the end of the run that counts."

SOCIETY and CLUB

ENTERTAINING FOR MISS IDA VERNON

Honoring Miss Ida Vernon, who is sailing within a few days on the S. S. Equador for New York, Miss Mildred Kirkpatrick is entertaining with a bridge tea of charming appointments this afternoon, at her home, 1027 Euclid Avenue.

A delightful color scheme of pink and white is reflected in both the decorations and menu and dainty prizes will be awarded the winners at the card tables.

Among those bidden to wish Miss Vernon "bon voyage" are Miss Mamie Goddard, Miss Hazel Williams, Miss Mercedes Frost, Miss Mildred Bane, Miss Harriette Hiller, Miss Mary Marshall, Miss Marian Hall, Miss Judith Bordwell, Miss Elizabeth Boulton, Miss Frances Freeman.

The new building, which is just east of the Bonita High School, will be open to the general public and an interesting program will be given by the children.

There are eighty-four children in the home at present and among those from Upland who are members of the executive board are Mrs. William Rohrig, Mrs. Frank Buffington, Mrs. Mary Eckerman and Mrs. C. H. Post, honorary member.

ENTERTAINING IN HONOR OF TRAVELERS

Among the many delightful affairs that have been given in honor of Miss Judith Bordwell, who is leaving this week for Honolulu, where she will spend the summer, and for Miss Ida Vernon, who is sailing in a few days on the S. S. Equador, for New York, is the bridge party with which Miss Marian Hall is entertaining this evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. George Hall on Euclid Ave.

Miss Hall has chosen gorgeous velvety roses, in the pastel shades, as her decorations, and her guest list includes, besides the guests of honor, Miss Mildred Bane, Miss Hazel Williams, Miss Frances Freeman, Miss Mildred Kirkpatrick, Miss Elizabeth Boulton, Miss Virginia Dull, Miss Mary Marshall, Miss Harriette Hiller, Miss Adele Zorn of San Dimas.

MISS JUDITH BORDWELL IS GUEST OF HONOR

Complimenting Miss Judith Bordwell, who is leaving on Saturday for Hawaii, where she will be a guest at the home of her aunt, Mrs. M. H. Drummond, during the summer, Miss Elizabeth Boulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Boulton, 406 Euclid Avenue, entertained on Wednesday with a delightful bridge tea.

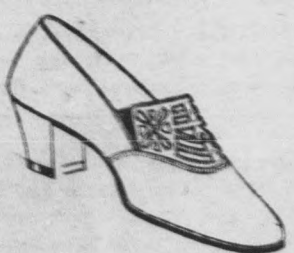

Baskets of larkspur predominated in the decorations, while dainty place cards mounted on Hawaiian leis marked places at the tea table for the guest of honor, Miss Bordwell, Miss Hazel Williams, Miss Harriette Hiller, Miss Marian Hall, Miss Mary Marshall, Miss Ida Vernon, Miss Mildred Bane, Miss Frances Freeman, Miss Mercedes Frost, Miss Ione Halleck, Miss Mildred Kirkpatrick, Miss Mamie Goddard.

Prizes at the card tables were won by Miss Mary Marshall, while a dainty corsage was presented to Miss Bordwell as the guest prize.

ENTERTAIN FOR GRADUATING PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. George Crill, 2239 Euclid Avenue, had as their guests for a few days Mr. and Mrs. Revilo Hart and their son, John Hart of Santa Monica; Miss Maye Armstrong, Santa Monica; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Crill and their daughter, Miss Eleanor Crill; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mayhew and Miss Dorothy Mayhew, all of Santa Ana.

The guests, who are all old friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Crill, came up to attend the graduating exercises at Chaffey Union High School on Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Crill's daughter, Miss Harriette Hiller, graduated.

Many attractive patterns of women's novelty slippers now at a big discount. This is your chance to get that extra pair at little expense. These are not "just sale shoes" but are Brownbilt Shoes of Quality—values of $4.50 to $8.00—in broken sizes. Your choice now at—

CAMPFIRE GIRLS HOSTS TO MOTHERS

Sacatewa Campfire Girls, assisted by their guardians, Mrs. George Cassell and Miss Helen Goodrich, entertained their mothers at a cleverly appointed dinner on Saturday evening at the clubhouse on San Antonio Heights.

The dining table was gay with decorations of wild flowers and gay talk and repartee flew thick and fast during the meal.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Cassell gave a short talk on the advantages and achievements of the Campfire organization.

BIRTHDAY INCENTIVE FOR PARTY

Honoring Mrs. D. D. Crew, who celebrated a birthday anniversary recently, a group of her friends gathered at her home on West 1st Street, Ontario, Tuesday evening, and pleasantly surprised her.

Dancing was the medium of entertainment during the evening, and at a late hour a delicious buffet supper was enjoyed.

Those in attendance at the enjoyable affair were: Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Stinson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Everett, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Chaffey, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McCurdy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Currie, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Crist, Mrs. F. A. Lucas, Miss Gail Rush, George Cathcart, and Mr. and Mrs. Crew.

GIRL SCOUT LEADERS VISIT CAMP CONIFER

Three of the Girl Scout leaders, Mrs. P. H. McQuillen, Mrs. John D. Howe and Mrs. Owen Atwood, motored to Camp Conifer yesterday and enjoyed a delightful day with the Girl Scouts at the camp.

Director of Miss Janet Stone, in the Chaffey District, is unusually well organized. The young girls are all well and happy, and enjoying to the fullest the quiet of the camp life.

Every girl gets ten hours of rest out of the twenty-four, and with three meals of wholesome food and two light meals, consisting mostly of pure, rich milk, jaded nerves and weary girls are developing into healthy, happy girls.

Chief Standing Bear visited the camp last week, and told the girls many interesting stories of Indian life. He also taught them to build hogies, strip bark from the trees and shoot with bow and arrow.

The Girl Scouts were delighted with the Chief's visit and have invited him to come again.

The leaders missed the most impressive part of the day's exercises, for Flag Raising in the morning and the campfire at night around which the girls sit and sing, are two of the loveliest "ceremonies" of the day.

Camp Conifer, with its restful, peaceful atmosphere and the splendid young women in charge, cannot help but have a wholesome effect on the young girls who are enjoying the delightful outing.

UPLAND READING CIRCLE HOLDS MEETING

Mrs. O. K. Granger and Mrs. Elise Kelly Thorpe were co-hostesses on Wednesday, when they entertained members of the Upland Reading Circle at the home of the former on San Antonio Heights.

The afternoon's program, which was in charge of Mrs. Laura T. Kelly and Mrs. Helen Daugherty, proved unusually interesting. Mrs. Kelly gave a short resume of "An American Tragedy," by Theodore Dreiser, and read portions of Somerset Maugham's play, "Rain," which has been recently dramatized from the short story "Rain," written by Mr. Maugham.

Mrs. Daugherty gave a brief outline of the gardening course that the Upland Woman's Club is sponsoring, and which will be given under the direction of Mrs. Daugherty.

An informal social hour was enjoyed later in the afternoon. Mrs. E. A. Marshall and Mrs. W. G. Morrison presiding at the dainty tea tables.

Among those present were the Mesdames Clyde DuVall, Harriet Gray, John D. Howe, I. C. Baxter, A. R. Hungerford, A. B. Whitney, A. W. Bart, Leavenworth Wheeler, F. Hatcher, Miss Betty Thorpe.

THE HENRY HARMS RETURN FROM MOTOR TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harms returned on Wednesday from a delightful ten-day motor trip, having covered a distance of 1500 miles in their travels.

Making the trip in easy stages and taking plenty of time to visit all points of interest, Mr. and Mrs. Harms motored to Bryce, Utah, and from that point drove to beautiful Zion National Park.

From Utah they drove to the Grand Canyon of Arizona, on to Los Vegas, Nevada, and across the desert back home.

The travelers report the roads in excellent condition and with the exception of one day when they were crossing the desert and the weather was considerably warm, the weather had been ideal all the time they were gone.

Polka Dots!

They're All the Rage—

The dernier mot from the style centers of Paris and New York is to the effect that to be strictly up-to-date, or as the Frenchman says "strictly comme-il-faut," one's wardrobe must boast at least one frock in the charming polka dot pattern.

The dots may be either large or small and of any color, according to one's taste, but the polka dotted materials are truly all the rage at present.

Many of the finest shops on Broadway are devoting whole window sections to the display of these charming patterns, and here at home the J. J. Atwood Company have converted their south windows into a veritable "polka dot garden."

And not only are polka dots to be worn by the women, for the advance comments from the style centers are to the effect that in order for Mr. Man to be correctly attired, he must wear a polka dotted cravat. And the new cravats, in the True-Blue shade, with tiny white dots, are just the thing to add that "smart" touch to the masculine attire.

With the polka dot four-in-hand the J. J. Atwood Co. are giving an especially designed True-Blue polka dot button that is just the thing for the well-dressed man to wear in the lapel of his coat, while clever silk handkerchiefs in the same lovely patterns are designed to be worn in the breast pocket.

June 20th has been set aside as "Father's Day" and a good slogan for this auspicious event would be "Father's Day, June 20th—Give Dad a Polka Dot Tie."

RIN TIN TIN AT COLONIAL TONITE

COLONIAL—Tonight and tomorrow night Rin-Tin-Tin in "Below the Line" with John Harmon and June Marlowe. "Below the Line" is that of a vicious dog who has been brutally trained for pit fighting and who has never known love or kindness from his master. Donald Cass (John Harmon) and his pretty sweetheart, May Barton (June Marlowe), befriend him, and, through affectionate training, the dog becomes a brave and loyal friend.

The fight between Rin-Tin-Tin and the bloodhound pack is the big thrilling climax. Fox News and a comedy round out the big program.

POLICE HUNTING FOR ACCUSED WIFE THIEF

Word received from Mrs. Alice Erickson is to the effect that she is still visiting relatives in Kansas and having an enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hicks of Los Angeles were visitors one day recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tuttle, on West Tenth Street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Freeman left Thursday noon for Los Angeles, where their daughter, Alice, teacher of languages in the Redondo Beach High School, joined them on a trip to Alaska. They go by train to Vancouver and from there by boat to their destination. They expect to be gone a month or six weeks.

Amos Allen has returned from Big Bear Lake and reports large crowds visiting that resort. He says fishing is not very good.

Mrs. B. A. Ruth and son, arrived from the northern part of the state Wednesday evening, and is visiting A. M. Wisely and Mrs. R. R. Wisely.

A. M. Wisely is curbing his new subdivision on East Tenth Street, between Ninth and Eleventh Avenues. There will be two tiers of lots, one facing San Bernardino Avenue and the other on Tenth Street on the south. This tract is the triangle block just south of the hospital, and consists of twenty-two lots.

We are featuring Sunday Chicken Dinner. You will find our cafeteria well ventilated with electric fans to insure you perfect comfort. Come Sunday and eat a good home-cooked dinner at The Cafeteria, 323 East 9th St. 121

Foot Comfort

Let this week mark the end of painful feet for you

Pain-wracked feet are a tremendous handicap to health and success. They sap one's vitality and energy, make one inefficient, cross and irritable.

If your feet hurt don't neglect them. Dr. Scholl's, the recognized foot authority, has perfected an appliance or remedy which specifically, scientifically and completely eliminates all foot misery.

Your trouble may be caused by weak and broken-down arches; weak ankles; cramped, overlapping toes; painful heels; corns; calluses or bunions or excessive perspiration with bad odors.

Regardless of the nature of your foot aches and pains come in this week and let us demonstrate to you how easily, quickly and inexpensively you can have perfect foot comfort.

Our Foot Comfort Expert who has mastered Dr. Scholl's world-famous method of foot correction is here to serve you without charge or obligation.

Be sure and come in this week

Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Week
June 19th to 26th

Dr. Scholl's Foot-Easy relieves weak and fallen arches, tired, aching feet, pain in the legs and heels, cramped toes, corns, calluses and bunions. Worn in any shoe. Adjusted to meet your individual requirements. $3.50 per pair.

Dr. Scholl's Bunion Reducer instantly relieves bunion pain by taking away the pressure. Reduces size of the enlargement by absorption. Preserves the shape of the shoe. Makes any shoe comfortable to wear. 75c each.

Dr. Scholl's No-Grip Heel Liner prevents all shoes from slipping at heel. Saves money. Prevents scuffing. Men's and women's sizes. Four colors. Permanently attached. 50c per pair.

Mr. William Allen (Bill) has just completed a course of study in the American School of Practipedics, Chicago.

This course is one that has to do with scientific shoe fitting and the elimination of foot and shoe troubles thru the application of appliances invented by Dr. Wm. M. Scholl, the well known authority on the feet.

Mr. D. M. Ellis and Mr. Glenn M. Atwood also are experts in this work.

Most of the foot troubles which afflict the great majority of people are due to improperly fitted shoes, walking on hard cement pavements and other habits of modern life which cause the arch of the foot to sag. When properly fitted with shoes and Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Appliances, he says most of these troubles disappear and the sufferer walks with his or her natural springy stride.

NEXT SUNDAY IS FATHER'S DAY.

Unfortunately I missed what must be to a Man life's greatest experience.

All of us crave a little bit of attention at times. It seems to me that next Sunday, June the 20th, would loom a little bit larger in the scheme of things, if on this day we made a sort of a FUSS over the fellow who as life's bravest unknown soldier—with-out medals, special mention, or paens of praise—comes as near being a hero as unflinching devotion to a cause can produce one.

Among the special greeting cards in our big card case are some that will carry the proper sentiment to the HEAD OF THE HOUSE.

I was going to mention our Knock-out price on Thermos Lunch Kits, $1.88, but as it might be a suggestion to improve Father's Lunch we will just—Let it go, this time.

Cheerfully yours,

CATCHING THE MODE in TRANSIT

FLAT CREPE EVENING FROCK WITH BEADED FLORAL DESIGN

SPORTS ATTIRE THAT EMPHASIZES THE STRAIGHT LINE

A CHIFFON TAFETTA "ROBE DE STYLE" IN TONES OF GRAY

PRESENTING ONE REASON WHY BLAID FABRICS ARE POPULAR

Smart Women Have Made Their Decision As To What Fashions—of the Many—They Prefer—But Changes Are Predicted.

FROM out the wealth of models that greeted the new season the fashionable woman has chosen those she considers smartest and most suitable to her needs. It is ever thus with a season's offerings, yet it is only for the very briefest moment that there is a condition that even slightly resembles a lull in the winds of fashion. And even when the apparent lull arrives, clouds of change are gathering in all four points of the compass, and even the briefest review is touched with prophecy.

It is change, undoubtedly, that makes the mode so interesting, but with the average woman spring styles foretell the major portion of summer fashions, for she may not change her frocks with the frequency that the mode demands. She must choose with a conservative understanding of the purpose to which her choices will be put, and close her eyes to everything but the up-to-dateness of the little things of the costume. With their aid she can do much.

Just now spring models are lost in the glamour of summer styles, and we are thinking of thin frocks, sports attire, and the utility coat and dress that will come in very handy during the "cold spell" that always arrives to remind us that winter lies just ahead. And the choice offered is most happy for the purpose—radical changes are too far ahead to worry us, and the mode, as we catch it in transit, is a very lovely, very versatile thing.

Fundamentals Change Their Order. While the straight line silhouette was the only one, and we thought only of it, in planning our attire, fabrics were justly considered the fundamental of the mode—this, because we did not have to do anything but accept, so far as lines were concerned. We could use any one of the fashionable materials that best suited our purpose, and it would be incorporated into a costume that was unflatteringly straight and slender as to its silhouette.

But a very few seasons, passing swiftly, have changed all this, and we now have a choice of silhouettes, and it is what the particular silhouette shall be that is our first consideration. We may prefer the skirt to ripple about our feet as a result of circuitous treatments of some sort, the robe de style may be our preference, if the frock is for evening, or it may be a modification of this period dress, if it is an afternoon model.

And there—should make note of this—there is the silhouette that appears, when not in motion, quite as straight as ever the pencil silhouette appeared. True, it may have pleats that break into motion when the wearer moves, but in many models—the very latest ones—the straight, narrow, short skirt appears. It is prophetic of change, and some of the foremost fashion critics are already predicting a return to the pencil silhouette, which would be tragedy, indeed.

Fabrics Depend On The Silhouette. Many of the materials that were quite correct for the straight line silhouette are impossible for the rippling lines of this newer offering. And while soft, sheer fabrics are used to simulate the period lines, taffeta and moire and materials with "body" are preferred. So it is that the silhouette, once decided, rules the fabric that is to achieve it, and even then, there is a choice sufficient for variety.

Sheer, supple materials are vogue when lines are manipulated into the rippling skirt, the swinging cape, jabots, scarfs and fine pleatings. We have tweeds and novelty wools and flannel and the reps and twills—these just types, not a complete roster—for sports and tailored attire, and we make use of lace, net, chiffon, Georgette, taffeta and crepe for evening frocks—slim or bouffant as the choice may be.

Spring has stressed green and gray and the bois de rose shades with a deal of black and navy. Summer will, as always, give us white, but its undisputed reign over the color world is threatened by the beige, and parchment, and the faint pastels. They seem to soil less easily, and they are more generally becoming than white, which, though worn by everyone, is not really good on lots of women. Navy will keep its place of prominence for the utility dress or suit that is a necessary part of every wardrobe.

Certain Vogues Are Stressed. From the many offerings certain vogues have resulted, and arrayed in a solid phalanx against it, they have practically ousted the costume suit, in spite of the fact that everyone thought it would become a fundamental of fashion. But while the costume suit, made up of dress and coat that matches in color, fabric or trimming, is only one of many equally important fashions, its influence is everywhere, and the ensemble note is apparent in everything we buy.

Ranged along with it we have the two-piece frock, the cape-coat or the slender wrap-around coat that is another prophecy of the pencil silhouette, the cape-wrap, the robe de style, the tailored suit.

and the vogue for the dress of sheer fabric worn over a printed or a colored slip. But wherever a costume is assembled, there is present that same matching note of identity that was the chief characteristic of the ensemble suit, only it is more subtle in its tone.

There is no denying the fact that the mode is as picturesque as it is varied. The robe de style is delightful, the cape-coat is a swagger and a charming garment, the tailored suit—for her who may wear it—is chic and jaunty, the cape has even been a most picturesquely becoming affair, and both the two-piece dress and the one-piece frock of sheer materials present almost unlimited possibilities.

Details Are Of Importance. But all the loveliness of line and fabric would count for little, were it not for the details of the mode in general. We are becoming accustomed to short skirts—even though their brevity is not always in the best of taste. We are grateful for an edict that permits us to wear our waist, where it is most becoming. We have even become content with the long sleeve that seemed, at first, to restrict our freedom—and this, just when warm summer days will be sure to return the short sleeve and sleeveless dress to fashion.

It really seems as though everything that is lovely and graceful is of the mode. Yokes, and capes, and scarfs, and jabots, and sashes, and belts are ready to our command for the smartening of our apparel and the concealing of possible ugly lines. Vestees and waistcoats and tiny trills here and there, the beauty of artificial flowers, pleats, and hem stitching, and appliques, and even quilting—there seems no end to the list.

Sports attire loves pleats and buttons and scarfs and smartly tailored lines. Note the two-piece frock of simple linen worn under the jaunty coat of striped material. Fashion loves this sort of costume with its practicality and its trimness. And her affection for the utility coat of plaid is evidenced in the model of black and white with its bold patch pockets, its scarf of the fabric and its touch of white fur.

Dressier Coats Are Wrappy In Type. The model of rose-colored fabric, faced with white, is typical of many of the newest coats in both sports and dressy type. There is a tendency toward the wrappiness that is universally becoming, and results in slim lines. This pictured coat boasts pockets edged with the white, and wears a narrow band of white on its sleeves, matching this color note with an ermine collar.

The sports dress, two-piece, of course, is made of radium silk—one of the most popular of the heavier silks. It has fine pleats to give the skirt width, and brightens the jumper—of simple lines—with touches of embroidery. This sort of a dress is a prime favorite with fashion, and is offered in sheer Georgette for summer sports wear.

An afternoon frock of chiffon taffeta, silver gray in color, adopts the skirt and bodice of the robe de style, edging the skirt with silk braid in a darker tone of gray, and adding braid-trimmed sleeves and a braid-bound fichu. The evening frock of white flat crepe drops slimly to the irregular hem that has a beaded edge to match the floral design on the frock itself. The ribbon sash is made of bluish pink satin ribbon.

ASSEMBLING A SHOE WARDROBE

ONES only quarrel with the shoe mode results from variety. The foresighted woman will carefully decide, before she shops for shoes, just how much money she can spend on this important accessory, then take that amount—no more, no less—and when she goes to buy, if she does not, it is inevitable that she be led into all sorts of financial indiscretions in her attempt to decide between several equally suitable and lovely pairs. She will, then, over buy.

This is impractical for yet another reason than the money involved—shoe fashions are in the very special mood of a very special mode. Already changes are prophesied, and when a change in the general mode arrives, shoes, hats and every important costume detail change with it. And the woman who over buys, acquiring more shoes than she can possibly wear out in a season, will find herself compelled to waste the extra pair or two, or else wear them when they are not of the fashion picture. Fashionable footwear varies in every possible way—in materials, in lasts, in types, in trimming details, not to mention color, which is of quite as much importance as any other characteristic. And since you no longer buy "a" pair of shoes or "a" hat but a shoe wardrobe and a hat wardrobe, it is imperative that you be familiar with the very special offerings that fashion considers her choicest.

Concerning lasts it is necessary to say only the obvious thing—you may fit your foot. One designer will stress the long vamp, another the short. One will insist on breadth across the toe of the shoe, another will approve the tapering line, though nearly all will agree upon the spike heel for everything but sports and the strictly tailored costume. It means a deal to the woman who appreciates comfortable shoes to find that she can wear any type, yet be in the mode.

Of course, the return of the Oxford to fashion—a glorified Oxford, to be sure—is the outstanding style note of the season. It is deemed appropriate for general, dressy and informal wear throughout the day, ending its usefulness with the dinner hour. And yet—there are versions of the slipper that suggest the Oxford in more ways than one! The Oxford of today is individualized, the models differentiated, one from the other, by novel cut-outs, appliques and combinations of leathers or colors.

The Oxford of the moment has an intricately cut-out saddle, perhaps, and appliques of one leather

DID YOU KNOW - THAT late cables from Paris tell of a new color combination—rose "bagatelle" and black or navy blue? It is sponsored for frocks and hats, and is already "vogue" along The Avenue.

THAT the newest "set" is made up of a semi-tailored scarf and a matching handkerchief of hand-stenciled Georgette and is called the "Scarfachief set." The center of the scarf is box-pleated to lie flat about the throat, a tailored note.

THAT a clever outfit for sports or travel is made up of a suede leather coat with a matching skirt? The coat is faced with the same fabric that makes the skirt, a chevron-striped, wool-and-rayon material. Sand, silver, green and rose are the choice of colors.

THAT Fashion's newest fancy is the white fox scarf dyed in one of the pastel tints? Some of the colors are beige, water-green, blue, cocoa, silverstone, orchid pansy and platinum and the combination of the soft fur and soft tints is most flattering.

that makes its heel and toe of snakeskin and the rest of the shoe of leather in a plain color appears smaller than the model that shows an unbroken line. The woman who is not blessed with small feet—and the tendency is away from them, not toward them—will look to the lines of her footwear, and break them wherever possible.

A word of warning concerning this positive rage for reptilian leathers. There are not snakes enough in all the wide, wide world to satisfy the demand. But why worry, when many of the imitations are just as effective, and less expensive? Plain leather is pressed into the effect of lizard, cobra, alligator—what you will! But pay for what you get, not what you hope you are getting—it is much with leathers as with furs. Imitations are quite lovely and many times just as good for the purpose, but they should be bought as such.

Of the shoes that are termed "step-in," there is no one lovelier than what is known as the "sailor" pump—one does not know why! It features a tongue with a goring beneath it to make it fit snugly, and can be worn with a buckle, if one chooses. Another lovely shoe is the ribbon-tied affair that seems to be an offspring of the Oxford—it has two or three eyelets through which the grosgrain ribbon is laced.

The basket weave shoe is already appearing—it is a mid-summer fashion. Its existence has led to the statement that footwear is now foot millinery—and why not? If we can achieve coolness and smartness and comfort with shoes of straw, raffia and satin strips, there is certainly no reason why lack of precedent should bar them from the material roster. Sports togs, including hats, have stolen the leather of which our shoes are made! But whatever the material, you will find that the shoe styles offered you are graceful and flattering of line.

that makes its heel and toe of snakeskin and the rest of the shoe of leather in a plain color appears smaller than the model that shows an unbroken line. The woman who is not blessed with small feet—and the tendency is away from them, not toward them—will look to the lines of her footwear, and break them wherever possible.

A word of warning concerning this positive rage for reptilian leathers. There are not snakes enough in all the wide, wide world to satisfy the demand. But why worry, when many of the imitations are just as effective, and less expensive? Plain leather is pressed into the effect of lizard, cobra, alligator—what you will! But pay for what you get, not what you hope you are getting—it is much with leathers as with furs. Imitations are quite lovely and many times just as good for the purpose, but they should be bought as such.

Of the shoes that are termed "step-in," there is no one lovelier than what is known as the "sailor" pump—one does not know why! It features a tongue with a goring beneath it to make it fit snugly, and can be worn with a buckle, if one chooses. Another lovely shoe is the ribbon-tied affair that seems to be an offspring of the Oxford—it has two or three eyelets through which the grosgrain ribbon is laced.

The basket weave shoe is already appearing—it is a mid-summer fashion. Its existence has led to the statement that footwear is now foot millinery—and why not? If we can achieve coolness and smartness and comfort with shoes of straw, raffia and satin strips, there is certainly no reason why lack of precedent should bar them from the material roster. Sports togs, including hats, have stolen the leather of which our shoes are made! But whatever the material, you will find that the shoe styles offered you are graceful and flattering of line.

One sees "in the papers," from which we get much of our most authentic information, that certain models may be had in "parchment, sauterne, bois de rose, opal gray, rose beige or beige kidskin." The trimming is reptilian! And again, we may choose a patent leather model with cut-out sides and reptilian appliques, or trimmings of blaque or gray kidskin. Then there is the Oxford made of snakeskin—cobra, let us say—just about the smartest affair that you can imagine. It has a cut-out saddle and the popular spike heel.

While there are more effects to be had, they are not as generally popular as other types. Pumps and strap effects seem to prove, by their variety, how strong is their claim to favoritism. The plain pump is still a leader—and it is always smart, and it is in perfect taste—we are thankful for its retention. Do not look—for you will not find them—for new lasts with every season. It is in color, material and trimming that variety exists and changes are wrought, only now and then a new type appears.

When shoes are decorative, as they are now, they are flattering, for any trim that cuts long lines makes the foot appear shorter, and, subsequently, smaller. A model

New Gas Holder Opening Marks Big Step Forward

Marking another forward step in the progress of Upland and Ontario and as an evidence of faith in the future growth of this district on the part of the local Southern Counties Gas Company, an impressive ceremony was held Tuesday noon at the company's plant and holder station, corner of California St. and Ontario Blvd.

With a representative delegation of city officials and engineers, together with officers and executives of the Southern Counties Gas Company, Mayor F. P. Williams, on behalf of the Ontario city government, turned the valve which permitted the first natural gas to flow from the newly erected high pressure holders into the Ontario and Upland distribution systems.

This official act on the part of Mayor Williams makes available to the gas consuming public of Upland and Ontario a reserve supply of 500,000 cu. ft., which, according to M. R. Thompson, chief engineer, and A. F. Bridge, executive engineer, who participated in the ceremonies, is more than sufficient to meet the peak requirements of this district.

The ceremony stated at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday morning when Walter Geldert, manager of the Ontario-Upland division of the Southern Counties Gas Company's properties, officially welcomed the city's chief executive and other prominent men present. Following a few introductory remarks, Dist. Mgr. Spencer introduced the company's executive engineer, A. F. Bridge, one of the designers of the new type of high pressure gas holders.

Engineer Bridge explained in detail the operation of the two tanks which were Tuesday placed in use. He said that his company had pioneered in design and use of the high pressure storage holder. He explained that the company, in 1921, had built its first unit of this type in Azusa, one of the western cities of the Upland-Ontario district. The installation of that unit became widely known and created a great deal of interest among engineers of the gas fraternity. Since that time, he pointed out, holders of the same design have been installed in Phoenix, Ariz., Tacoma, Salt Lake City and Sacramento.

According to the speaker, the company in 1925 made a thorough study of storage needs throughout its territory and that between now and 1930 the corporation will install holders with several million cubic feet capacity at various load centers.

During the last several months, the utility has erected high pressure storage holders in Ontario, Newport Beach, Orange, Santa Ana, Sierra Madre and similar units will be erected at San Pedro during the present year, he said.

The local holders, which are in two units of 250,000 cu. ft. capacity, were erected at a cost of $57,600. The total cost of the holders and the filling and discharge lines amounts to more than $78,000. The engineer stated that a ten-inch distributing trunk line extends from the holders north on Ontario and Sultana avenues, forming the backbone of the Ontario-Upland high pressure distribution system.

This type of holder has several advantages over the telescopic tank generally used in the gas industry. The new units have no moving parts, are automatic in operation and increase the flexibility of storage operation generally. The units consist of two horizontal, cylindrical steel tanks, 28 ft. in diameter and 145 feet in length. They are of riveted steel, designed with a safety factor of four when filled with gas at 50 pounds pressure. The thickness of the cylindrical portions is 21-32 of an inch and of the hemispherical ends, 13-32 of an inch.

The tanks are filled directly from high pressure transmission lines and discharge into the Ontario distribution system without any additional compression of the gas. They are protected with pop valves, set to blow slightly above 50 pounds. There is also an 8-inch blow-off with a 30-foot stack, which can be used in the event of fire or an emergency. The content of the two units can be emptied in a very few minutes, in case of necessity, Bridge stated.

The principle of the design was worked out by Engineers Thompson and Bridge in conjunction with engineers of the Western Pipe and Steel Company of Los Angeles. The material was assembled in Los Angeles and assembled here at the company's plant by that concern.

Following the ceremony and a careful inspection of the tanks, the foundations and the neatly fenced holder site, the officials adjourned to Carder's Inn where luncheon was served. Following the luncheon, C. G. Spencer and Walter Geldert of the gas company introduced Frank H. Bivens, formerly district manager for the utility here ten years ago, now general agent for the corporation in Los Angeles. Bivens, who has been an employee of the organization since its inception in 1911, gave some of the early company history.

He told of the early organization of the company by F. R. Bain, president and general manager, who had difficulty in interesting financial men in a venturesome natural gas project which in those days was considered impractical. President Bain, however, persisted in his idea of forming all the smaller gas units under a general organization and went east where he laid his plans before the Dawes Bros., one of whom, Charles G. Dawes, is now Vice President of the United States. The Dawes had faith in Bain and the gas executive returned to Southern California with capital sufficient to expand and carry out his enterprise.

Bivens said that the company took over the Pomona Valley properties from the Southern California Edison Company in June, 1916, and acquired the local gas properties from the Upland-Ontario Gas Company in September, 1917. Otto Roen, now city manager for Ontario, was at that time secretary of the local gas company.

Natural gas was turned into the local mains in 1917 which greatly reduced the company's revenue, due to the heat content of the richer fuel. Bivens said that the company has added new consumers and more agricultural pumping business which soon overbalanced the loss due to the introduction of the new fuel.

Figures brought out by the speaker showed that there are today 3205 consumers in Ontario and Upland as compared with 1041 as of September 1, 1917. The company has invested in local capital today $312,000, as compared with $99,464 as of September 1, 1917. Annual payroll figures for the Ontario and Pomona district total $115,000 today as compared with $29,000 of ten years ago.

Mayor Williams congratulated the company on the completion of its new holders and upon the type of service rendered. He said that he appreciated the high grade gas served locally and that the local consuming public were fortunate in having its fuel supply augmented by the local utility whose lines extend to eleven major Southern California oil fields.

City Manager Roen spoke briefly on the "old days" when he had charge of the gas properties here. He said that the Southern Counties organization had kept faith with the local public, was rendering splendid service here and had the confidence of the public and the city administration.

Following were the officials, company executives and local business men who participated in the company's ceremonies Tuesday:

Mayor F. P. Williams, City Manager Otto Roen, City Engineer W. E. Nugent, Ontario; City Engineer R. Manley, of Upland; Fire Chief Fred Price, Chief of Police W. O. Hardy, Howard Shattuck of the Chamber of Commerce, Oscar Arnold representing the Rotary Club, J. Hall, vice president of the Kiwanis Club; Cedric Smith, representing the Lions Club; Crombie Allen, editor of the Ontario Daily Report; D. D. McDonald, publisher of the Ontario Herald; W. E. Westland, publisher, and J. H. Herman, of The Upland News; Roy Newton, Chamber of Commerce; City Councilman N. E. Trautman, and local Manager Walter Geldert; District Manager C. G. Spencer and the following gas company representatives: Frank H. Bivens, general agent; M. R. Thompson, chief engineer; A. F. Bridge, executive engineer; Clyde H. Potter, publicity representative; B. McBurney, district superintendent, and Luther Curtis, Los Angeles.

LEGION NOTES

Were you there? At our Annual Frolic with our Auxiliary! Oh, boy, what eats! One hundred and twenty of the warriors and their lady friends sat at mess at Stoddard's last night, and we surely had the piece de resistance. We sang and danced and laughed for the whole evening, and we are sure that we all had a good time.

Thursday evening next we will present our war trophy to the City of Upland in memory of the late war. The band will be there for their opening concert and we will have another gala night. Be sure and wear your Legion cap.

Did you ever stop to think that the American Legion and its Auxiliary are the most exclusive service clubs in the United States. It not only is doing a great and good work for the ex-service men and women, but we have a pretty good time doing it. Unlike most exclusive organizations, we are not snobbish, and we do not high-hat our friends. It is also inexpensive to belong to, for outside of our small dues, the rest of our donations go to charity, and a wonderful charity it is, helping men and women who offered their lives for their country.

Buron Fitts ended a three-day tour of the heart of the San Joaquin Valley Wednesday, during which he received pledges of support in his campaign for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor. He spoke at Visalia, Tulare, Hanford and Fresno, and visited numerous other places in

Fruit Growers' Supply Company Again Place Firm Order for 100,000 Scheu Heaters (1926 Season Delivery)

THE Scheu Heater is the only orchard heater on the market that is endorsed by the Growers' Committee and for which a firm order is placed by the Fruit Growers' Supply Company. Year after year the Scheu Orchard Heater has enjoyed this merited recognition from the growers and today the majority of orchard heaters in use throughout the world are Scheu heaters.

Scheu 1926 9-Gallon Improved Jumbo Cone Heater in Demand

We have developed a new louver stack that will fit any standard heater on the market. The Jumbo is a combination of open flame and radiation of heat from the metal permitting the release of heat closer to the ground and is practically smokeless.

This 1926 Jumbo heater consists of a seamless bowl with 9-gallon capacity when filled, to within 1 1/2 in. from the top and an air tight water proof cover. The improved galvanized cone has been reduced to 7 in. in height, widened to 8 1/2 in. in diameter at the top and 13 in. at the bottom. The black upper stack has been reduced to 23 in. in height, tapered from 8 1/2 in. in diameter at the bottom to 6 1/2 in. in diameter at the top and stack cap. The total height of the stack is only 30 in.

Price $3.65 each—Advanced price effective July 1st, $3.75 ea.

DIST. ATTORNEYS HOLD CONVENTION

The state will get an "even break" in the courts with the enactment of the amendments to the criminal laws recommended by the District Attorneys' Association and the Governor's Committee on the revision of criminal procedure are enacted by the Legislature, District Attorney George H. Johnson said yesterday on his return from the prosecutors' convention at Yosemite.

The principal changes in the criminal laws advocated by the joint committees of the district attorneys and the Governor would provide that:

Prisoners must plead insanity if insanity is to be a defense of a crime, the jury to decide on the prisoner's sanity. The district attorney may comment on the failure of a defendant to take the witness stand and testify in his own behalf.

Any number of offenses may be incorporated into one complaint.

Probation cannot be granted to second offenders or if the defendant had in his possession a deadly weapon when the crime was committed.

Prisoners sentenced to life must serve a minimum of 25 years.

Life sentences must be imposed on criminals convicted of three felony offenses.

Crimes now known as obtaining money under false pretenses, embezzlement and theft of money to be incorporated into one offense—larceny.

The furnishing of bail for a prisoner for profit shall become a felony offense.

Courts may order an amendment to the complaint at any stage of the trial of a criminal case.

Criminal cases must be set for trial within 30 days from the date of arraignment unless in the furtherance of the ends of justice.

The state may be entitled to as many peremptory challenges as the defense in selecting a jury.

Prisoners cannot rely upon an alibi as a defense unless the district attorney is notified in advance.

The above proposed amendments to the state code of criminal procedure will be forwarded to all California Legislators by the District Attorneys' Association with a request for their adoption, Mr. Johnson said. The amendments were selected from the scores of advocated changes submitted by the 40 district attorneys of the leading counties of the state.

DEMONSTRATION SCHOOL MONDAY

The Demonstration School of the Pomona College summer session will open at 9 o'clock Monday morning in the Claremont grammar school building, at the corner of 8th and Harvard, with teachers and equipment for the kindergarten and first through eighth grade inclusive. The advance enrollment has warranted the organization of five rooms, each to be in charge of highly trained and accredited teachers, the whole school to be under the supervision of Mrs. Adelia A. Samuels of the Cucamonga School.

The tuition of $6.00 may be paid at the schoolhouse on Monday morning from 8:30 until the numbers are accommodated.

In order that the school may be open for many of the children who may need it most, organizations interested have supplied certain funds to take care of the tuition of a number of children.

In the city of Pomona, Mr. G. A. Griggs, chairman of the Kiwanis Club committee on underprivileged children, will be able to help approximately 15 children.

In Claremont, through the co-operation of the Claremont Church and the Kiwanis Club, help may be extended to such children as need it. Information should be sent to Mr. Ament, who can secure tuition aid for those needing assistance.

The Cucamonga Service Club is making arrangements to send a number of children from the Cucamonga district.

Since bus service is in most cases impracticable, the aid of teachers and students motoring from the surrounding communities to Pomona College for the summer session is requested in transporting children to the Demonstration School. A number of parents are planning to take turns in bringing the children from their region, making only one round trip per week necessary for a group of four or five families.

The Chaffey bus will be used for the transportation of pupils to the Demonstration School at Pomona College. The bus will leave the Cucamonga School at 8 a.m., the Central School at 8:15, and the Upland Tenth Street School at 8:30. This routing may be changed after next Monday.

LOCAL SPORTSMEN ISSUE RESOLUTION

At a meeting held Monday, June 14th, in Smith's sporting goods store of San Bernardino, between W. C. Malone, county game warden, and an advisory board comprising Harry Long, Kirk Vernon, Carl Hert, Herb Gowland, Bill Rogers, Mike Shoemaker and Roy Creighton, who are leading sportsmen in the vicinity in which they live, application was made to the Fish and Game Commission of California for two million Rainbow trout to be distributed in 41 different streams and lakes in San Bernardino Co.

A resolution was also adopted in the meeting, recommending to the California legislators the following changes in the Fish and Game Laws:

Deer season to open for one month, and to be opened all over the State of California at the same time; also to reduce the limit from two to one buck in a season, and that hunters register their deer within three days after it is killed, with the county clerk in the county in which the deer is killed. This would do away with the trouble we are now having in regard to taking deer from an open district into a closed district.

Recommendation was also made that the bounty on Mountain Lions be increased.

Another law that they recommended amending is the Hunting License Act; recommending that everyone in the State of California who carries a loaded gun, outside of the incorporated city limits and off the public highways, shall first secure a license, and that aliens' license shall be $25.00, and if it is an alien out hunting, he shall be fined not less than $5.00 and the gun shall be confiscated. This will do away with the bunch of aliens who are running all over the country with a gun under the disguise that they are hunting jackrabbits.

It was also recommended the law be changed to give absolute protection on rabbits; the same season to be opened and quail season time that dove and quail season opens, with the exception that any man who owns property where the rabbits are destroying his crops may obtain a written permit to shoot them.

This Advisory Board is going to ask the different Izaak Walton Clubs of San Bernardino County to adopt these resolutions.

Henry Kienzie, Fred Hermes and George Stover had a successful day at Hemet Dam yesterday. Hermes landed a 5-pound rainbow trout.

Robert Weiss and Frank Blane are fishing at Big Bear Lake this week.

THEN AND NOW

"Are they engaged? I heard him begging for 'just one' behind the palms over there?"

"Naw! They're married. He was asking for a dollar."

ARE YOU FROM TERRE HAUTE?

Big plans are under way for the regular annual picnic of the Terre Haute Society which will be held Sunday, June 27, at Sycamore Grove Park, 4703 Pasadena Avenue, Los Angeles.

Every person now residing in California and formerly a resident of Terre Haute, Indiana, is urgently requested to be present. The Sunken Gardens have been reserved in the park for those who do not bring lunch, and those who do not may come for the program, which will be held at the band stand at 2 p.m.

ONTARIO

"Attendance is the greatest compliment you can pay to your Rotary Club," was the keynote of an address given by F. H. McQuillen, well known Upland druggist and past president of Upland club, at the weekly meeting of Ontario Rotarians held at the Casa Blanca Hotel yesterday.

Mr. McQuillen dwelt on the importance of attending conferences and conventions, stating that while not every Rotarian is able to attend the great international conventions, at most all of them have the opportunity
